Bolac yesterday took the route to Hyattesville, and has done better time this year in his workouts than ever before. Unless Baltimore can show something better the race will go to the Carroll Institute favorite. Bolac came near winning last year, and says that with cooler weather this year he will be able to stand the gaff a great deal

Several times during the coming week the details of the marathon will be printed for the benefit of the runners and those who wish to know exactly what is being done.

"Every Knock Is a Boost."

Even if the Giants do take both these games from the Climbers, please don't get out your hammers. Despite the rivalry between the teams, it is next to impossible for the players to take as much interest in exhibition games as in league contests. There fore, though the Climbers will fight hard, don't get out your hammers it

Nothing but murder.

It's nothing but murder to stage ball game at Back River park, in Baltimore. If Jack Dunn wishes to make money Sundays, the least he might do is provide a respectable field for day a major leaguer will sprain an ankle on that field and then Dunn will be unable to book any more big league outfits there.

At last showing sense.

At last boxing authorities are showing sense. Since the death of Tommy Lavelle, the local boxer, in Pittsburgh, the authorities in the Smoky City have ordered the floor of the ring, the ropes and the posts to be suitably padded. Few boxers are seriously injured from the blows of opponents. They are killed when they hit wooden posts or wooden floors.

Some conflicting dates.

From a glance at the Uncle Som schedule, one sees that fifteen games are booked for this city while the Climbers are here, Ordinarily, these would be called conflicting, but it is unlikely that the Griffmen will know the Uncle Sammers are here. Indeed, since the first one is June 19, it is by no means certain that the outlaws will be playing by that time.

More than a week.

In a little more than a week the high schools will be on the carpet in their annual struggle for the championship Everything combines this year to make the series attractive. In the first place the majority of games will be played at the American League Park and in addition the teams look to be stronger and more evenly matched than last year's aggregations.

If Carl Cashion delivers the goods

Washington for the 1913 American Cashion is Clark Griffith's best problem. In the big fellow Griff has a pitcher with everything save control.

His speed rivals that of Walter John-

His physique is more magsive, denoting ability to stand heavy work.
His curve ball is better than that of the average major league pitcher.
His delivery is just "jerky" enough to make him all the more deceptive.
At one time have runners ran wild

Any club to be considered a pennant possibility must have three pitchers working in good shape. Last year Walter Johrson, Bob Groom, and Tem Hughes carried the burden of the Na-come across with a game in which he would have almost perfect control, and critics would begin to pick the team as a pennant winner, and perhaps in the next game Cashion would be as wild as when he managed to get the ball over the plate.

I recall a game he pitched last year, with John Henry catching, in which both Henry and myself did more acrobatic stuff than the head-line tumblers in a three-ring circus.

Cashion gave something like 11 bases on balls, yet won his game. When the plach came he could get the ball across. Any pitcher who can do this surely has somefhing on the ball.

Tom Hughes is a veteran. He has had a great deal of trouble with his arm of late, but it would not be surprising if he came through with another good year this season. If he does Griffith need not worry.

IF the breaks go against Hughes: IF Griffith need not worry.

If the breaks go against Hughes; IF he fails to be a winner, then Cashion must show IF the Nationals are to take a hand in the world's series.
